

Stacer hits refresh for

Stacer has hit the fresh style button for 2014 and the result is better interior and exterior styling across its entire alloy boat range this year.

Stacer is the second biggest of the Aussie tinnie brands and it's very easy to see why when you see the changes they've made to their just released 2014 range.

Customers this year can look forward to a freshly styled Stacer range that is also better value compared to previous model years. It starts with the much improved 429 Seaway that has literally come out of the 'ugly duckling closet' to become a bigger, better, quite impressive runabout that has real take-me-home appeal.

And there's styling improvements across the runabout, bowrider and cuddy models. The Easy Rider Bowriders particularly now enjoy much bigger bow cockpits. Thanks to feedback from dealers and customers Stacer has increased bow cockpit in each model to provide genuine adult-size seating.

The hull beams and interior widths have also been increased and sporty low-profile decks incorporated on a number of models. The all-new 449 Baymaster is a good example; the Baymaster not only has a stylish sports deck but increased internal space by Sea Runner 509 for families.

200mm. This runabout also features a 3mm bottom and features the EVO Advanced hull from that delivers a comfortable and smooth ride.

All the new models were on show during a special Gold Coast media day on April 9. The Australian marine media were able to test first-hand these great new tinnies that will debut at the 2014 Boat Show season.

And what was really causing a stir on the media front was the all-new 519 Assault Pro. This lean, American inspired inshore fishing boat looks a lot like the USA Pro Am Bass boats with its high bow and stern casting decks

2014 season

INTERESTING BOATS

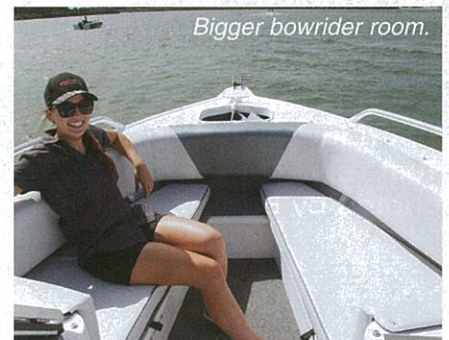

New style for 429 Seaway.

Beamy new Easy Rider.

High casting decks aboard 519 Assault Pro.

Bigger bowrider room.

519 Assault Pro.

449 Proline Angler.

plus fighter jet style helm console. Top speed is 50 knots on this red-hulled flyer fitted with an Evinrude 135hp ETEC on the transom. This 5.2m long 'total weapon' will no doubt be soon featuring at major inshore barra, bass and bream fishing events.

The beauty of the 519 Assault is a hull designed for Australian choppy water conditions and with just a little bit more freeboard so it can ease through swell with ease and comfort.

The 519 Assault features a large rear casting platform including a live bait tank and front casting platform with a dual battery set up perfect for running an electric motor. It also has a 4mm bottom panels and (option) remote electric opening rod locker down the port-hand.

Stacer's fishing focussed range:

Other increasing models included the super roomy 619 Easy Rider bowrider with walk-through transom door and a massive six-person cockpit capacity. Plush, automotive style bucket seats for driver and passenger are just one of the great features of this new family fishing day cruising boat.

Stacer's new 2014 range also includes the 449 Proline Angler, a great little inshore sport fishing boat that can fish both estuary and bay waters with its highly stable hull. Price from this attractive tiller-steered boat is around $12,000-$14,000 and represents great value for anglers on a budget.

Across the range the new 2014 models feature new trim, new upholstery seats and colour schemes that are sure to appeal to new boat buyers. There is also a range of vinyl wraps to further enhance the look of the craft and personalise it to your needs and requirements.

All Stacer are sold as a ready-go package and feature matching Stacer trailers and factory-matched Vortex, or Evinrude outboards.

Further information at the website: www.stacer.com.au