🕒 July 11, 2018

STACER'S best-selling runabout range has a complete new look for 2018 with the new Sea Master featuring the new Revolution Hull.

The new Sea Master range is available in a line-up of new sizes including the 429, 449, 469, 499 and 519 and will replace the current Seaway and Bay Master line ups. A variety of new standard features have been added to the range, sure to make them a hit come boat show season, including a larger side sheet creating increased freeboard, 3mm topsides and fully welded side decks.

The all-new rubber gunwales, semi-hookless Shark Carpet, under-dash storage with solid foot bar and stainless steel ladder add a few creature comforts to the family favourite. Boaters can choose from a number of new options including a redesigned transom door and a factory drum winch option across the whole range.

The 469, 499 and 519 models feature a walk-through dash with the Low Profile Sports Deck for a sportier look, while the underfloor storage adds practicality. Stacer national account manager Dominic Smith said it was well known the Stacer brand is synonymous for its runabouts, with the Seaway having been a popular model for a long time.

“The 429 comes standard with the Revolution Hull, Shark Carpet, smooth sides, rubber gunwales and fully welded side decks,” he said. “I challenge you to find a better value runabout in the market at the moment.”
